DESIGN THINKING

“Producing a designer product means combining aesthetic appeal, functionality and accessibility”

The design team works with leading professional designers who guarantee high standards of innovation and design. Diemmebi researches and produces Italian-style products with innovative content and timeless designs. Which is why it supports the Foundation dedicated to the work of Achille Castiglioni, one of the founding fathers of Italian design and the inspiration behind the research and manufacture of large-scale product ranges for community settings, featuring innovative content and timeless designs: authentic articles for real needs.

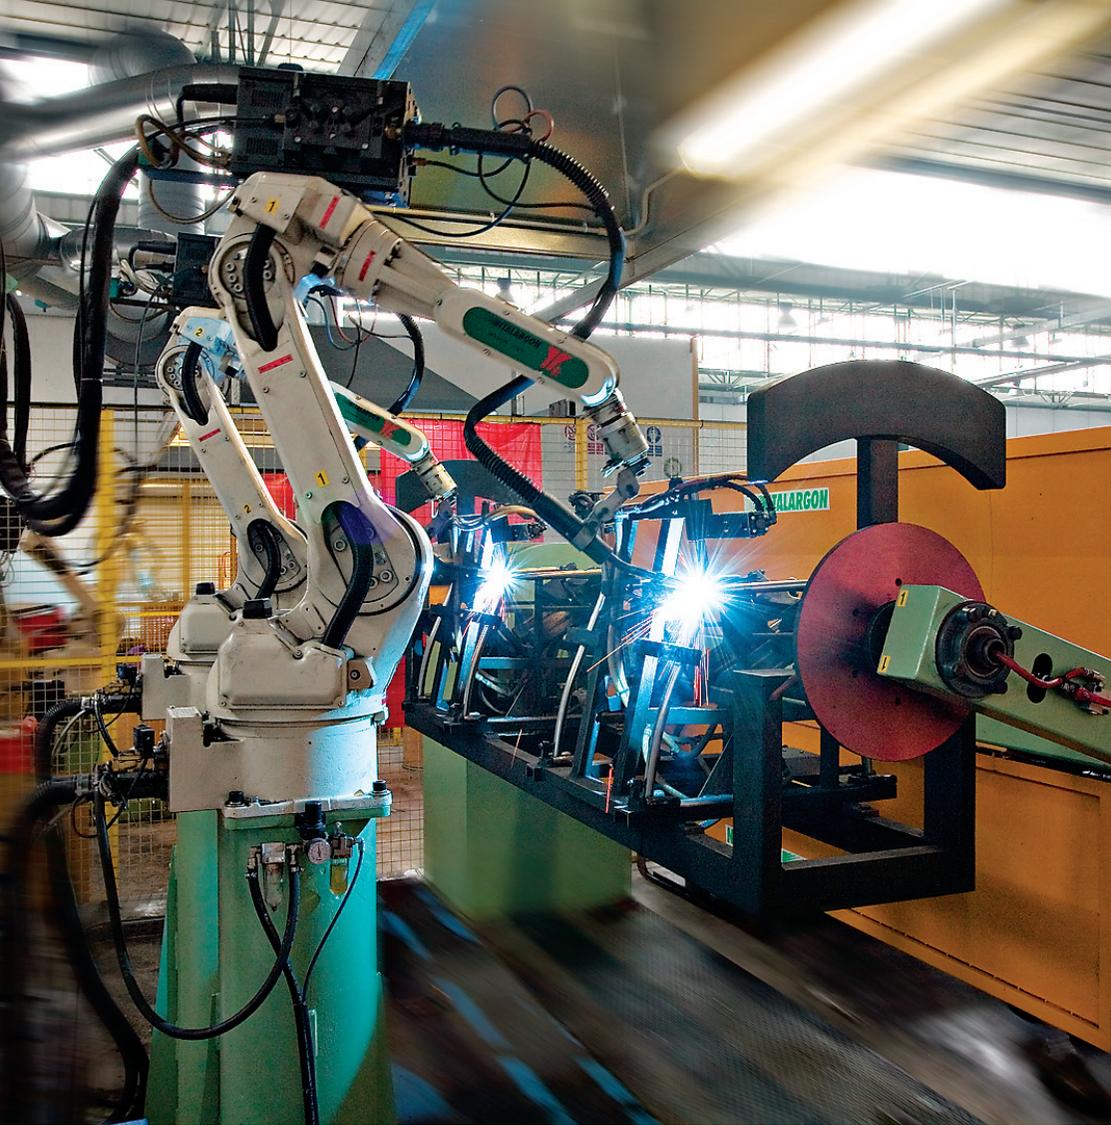

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

“Diemmebi develops quality products that are safe and reliable for people’s needs”

Researching and developing new ideas, defining the criteria for the quality, shape and functionality of the products are the cornerstones of Diemmebi’s design. Each project and subsequent industrialisation are based on “sustainable products” within our production and industrial supply chain, working with numerous suppliers of Made in Italy. This quality and constant commitment are demonstrated by the international awards that the company has received, such as the NeoCon Gold Award, Interzum Award and the ADI Design Index.

The production facility performs the cutting, bending, moulding, welding and painting processes of the metal structures. It assembles the semi-finished products and packages them for shipping. The manufacturing nature of the company allows it to oversee most of the production costs and pursue its goal of representing “the best price in industrial design”. It also focuses on the design of individual components and their whole, by improving the entire production supply chain to offer truly innovative products.

PRODUCTION

“Diemmebi undertakes the ongoing endeavour to offer truly innovative products”

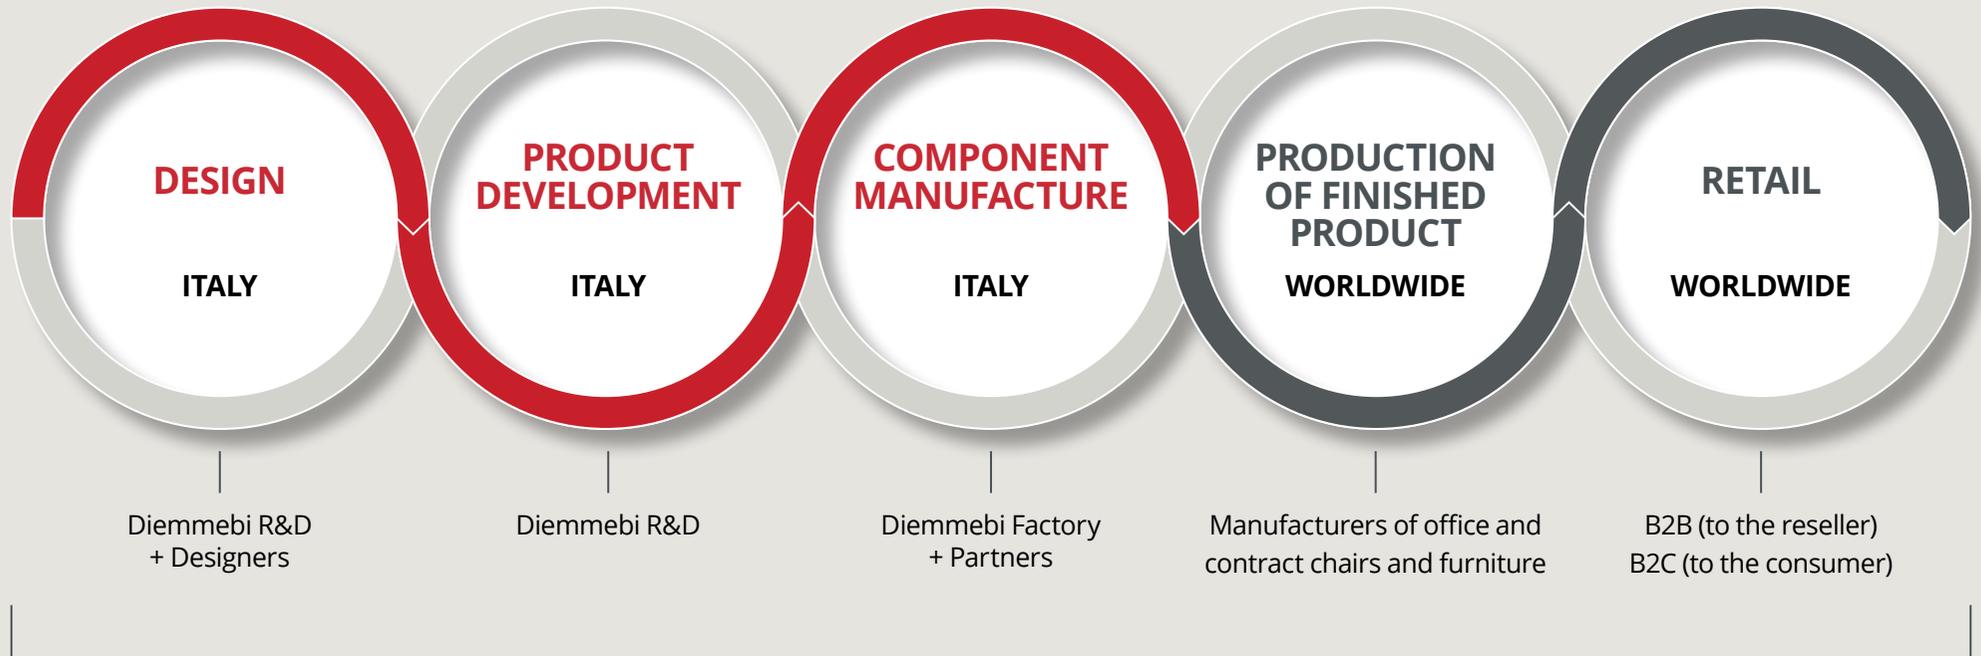

The quality of life and the environment, both as a workplace and as natural space, have always represented the basic principles for Diemmebi in creating sustainable products, aimed at ensuring the well-being of its end users. Being able to recycle the product at the end of its life cycle, as well as using certified REMADE IN ITALY recycled plastic components form the essential points of departure for a circular approach to environmental issues.

QUALITY AND SUSTAINABILITY

“We were among the first companies in Italy to obtain ISO 9001 quality certification in 1998”
